Dr. Grace Walker's practice at 476 Buckeye St., was recently honored with a Star Performer Award from MDwise.

MDwise is Indiana's only nonprofit managed health care organization serving Hoosiers covered by the Hoosier Healthwise, Healthy Indiana Plan and Care Select health programs. The clinic received this recognition for going above and beyond to provide high levels of quality and service to patients.

"The Star Performer Award recognizes the providers in our network who are exceptional in their delivery of services and are committed to continuous improvement in providing 'the Best Care,'" said Caroline Carney Doebbeling, chief medical officer of MDwise.

MDwise sought out specific criteria when selecting the Star Performer honorees, including achieving measures of clinical performance, best practice implementation, patient outreach and compassion, as well as having a shared passion for quality throughout the office.

To further recognize the hard work of these individuals, MDwise has launched web pages that feature interviews with staff from each honored office. The content of the interviews ranges from what inspires each honoree to how it felt to receive the recognition. To read those interviews as they are posted, go to MDwise.org/starperformers.
